

TEAM SPIRITS

Summer Time Gladness

01

TEAM TRAINING

This week has been all about brand immersion! We've received a wide range of brand training materials from our serviced brands, and our team has been hard at work reviewing and completing the training modules. From tone of voice to visual identity, it's been a deep dive into each brand's unique personality and expectations.

It's a great reminder of how important consistency and brand alignment are especially when working across multiple clients. With each training, we're sharpening our understanding and ensuring we deliver not just excellent service, but on-brand excellence every time.

02

Happy Pride Month! 🌈

June is a time to celebrate love, inclusion, and the vibrant diversity of the LGBTQ+ community. At Team Spirits, we proudly stand in support of equality, not just this month, but every day of the year. We ensure every member of our team feels empowered to be their authentic selves, free from judgment and full of pride.

03

Meet Dr. Sangitha Khosla aka Momi

We had the pleasure of welcoming Dr. Sangita Kholsa from Indē Wild for a special afternoon focused on the traditional Ayurvedic practice of champi head massage.

During the session, Dr. Sangita guided us through the techniques and benefits of the ritual, emphasising mindful touch, scalp health, and the grounding power of Ayurvedic oils.

We also got to meet and greet and connect with Dr. Sangita, asking questions, and leaving feeling both inspired and nurtured.

“

SALES
CONSULTANT

04

“

SALES
CONSULTANT

Being part of Team Spirits has truly been a highlight in my career. From day one, I've felt genuinely supported and appreciated, with a real sense of belonging to a dynamic and passionate team. The range of opportunities – from luxury promotional events to counter support – keeps the work engaging and rewarding. Communication is always clear, and the training provided ensures you feel confident and prepared for every shift.

- Yara Wansa

Working for Team Spirits has been and is an incredibly rewarding experience, both professionally and personally! The experience has allowed me to represent a dynamic brand in energetic and collaborative environments. I've gained many valuable skills working here and am proud to contribute to their collaborative and innovative values!

- Lerato Gunn